

Missionary Returning To Amazon

Jungle Calls Widow

By Bobby Westbrook
DEVOTING her life to bringing God to the men who killed her husband does not seem strange to Betty Elliott.

Her young husband was one of five missionaries whose death under the spears of Indians in the jungles of South America made headlines around the world. Mrs. Elliott and her daughter, Valerie, 5, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter E.

Hoffman Jr., at The Birchwood, Henryville.

For the past year she and Valerie and the widow of another of the victims have been living and working with the same tribe. They have even come to know and to talk with the five men whose hands actually threw the spears.

"Why did they kill them?"

"I felt it to be God's will."

Where She Can Serve
That was the reason she had gone to Ecuador in the first place. After graduating from Wheaton College in Illinois, she felt God had work for her to do in Ecuador. She hesitated to say she had had "a call."

"That sounds as if I had a vision or something. Actually,
I just was convinced that there was where I could serve, so I went."

She was not "sent," she insists. She is not connected with any church organization nor supported by them. As an independent missionary, her support comes from unsolicited donations.

"Where God wants you to go,
the way will be provided," she said, pointing to the fact that the door had opened for the two women to return to live with the tribe where their husbands had died.

"We prayed that it would be possible," she said, "but we didn't see how we could succeed where the men had failed."

Then two women of the village made their way to the settlement where she was staying; they came and lived with her; and when they returned, the missionaries went with them. It was that simple.

Living in the village—a collection of palm-thatched roofs with no walls and no doors—presents no problems, she said.
"There's no housework," she added with a twinkle.

The village is high and not hot. It is east of the Andes and in the rain forests of the upper Amazon. While the river abounds with alligators, electric eels and parana, the only real danger is from snakes, she said.
The favorite meat of the Indians is monkey, which they sing with the fur on—and share with the missionaries.
"It tastes like burned fur," she added.

The missionaries also share with the Indians the food dropped for them by the MAF planes on their regular flights. Although the natives have no fruit or vegetables, they are remarkably healthy, she said.

No Tensions
They are also remarkably happy, she added, with none of the neuroses and tensions of civilization.

"As far as living conditions go, it's Utopia," she said.

Why change them then, she was asked.

"We don't want to change their way of life or their culture," she said. "We only want them to know God and his love."

Before they can do that however, they must themselves learn the language so thoroughly that they can communicate ideas as well as the necessities of living.
With that in mind, they are making tape recordings of the conversation, studying them down into symbols and finally into a written language into which the Bible can be translated.

She and Valerie plan to return to the task in Ecuador soon.

How about Valerie? Does she find the change from jungle to the Poconos disturbing? Not at all, her mother says. She likes the snow and she likes the jungle and her playmates in both places.

It's a little more confusing for her mother, however.
"Life is so complicated here," she said, and admitted that it is almost impossible not to become involved in the tensions and demands of civilization.

Just now she is in the throes of the publication of her third book.

The first, written just after the death of her husband, in 1957 was "Through the Gates of Splendor," and told the story of the five missionaries.

The second, written in 1958,
"Shadow of the Almighty," is a biography of her husband, whom she first met at Wheaton College but with whom she fell in love and married in the mission field in Ecuador.

The new book coming out this Fall is "The Savage, My Kinsmen," and tells of her own life among his killers.

Explosion Rips Plane In Air, Kills All 63 Persons AboardWalter Mentioned
For Chairmanship

By John Koenig Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter
(D-Pa.) presided over House debate on the controversial civil rights bill this week and his performance revived speculation that he might be chosen to preside over the Democratic national convention in July.

Rep. Walter
mentioned as a possibility to succeed Rayburn
as speaker. But as one Walter backer put it:
"He can't wait forever."

As has happened in the past, Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) turned over the House reins to Walter, dean of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress.

"He's doing well; and this is good experience for the 1960 convention," supporters of Walter for the convention chairmanship said in substance.
Rayburn has announced he will not accept the chairmanship.

Walter also has been mentioned as a possibility to succeed Rayburn
as speaker. But as one Walter backer put it:
"He can't wait forever."

The Easton, Pa., Democrat has been a House member for 26 years.

Blue Cross To Undergo Intensive Study By State

HARRISBURG (AP)—Insurance Commissioner Francis R.
Smith reported Thursday the state will soon embark on the nation's most intensive study of hospitalization insurance.

Smith said the proposed survey is "ready to roll." Its principle aim is to determine costs of maintenance and operation of hospitals.

The study will be financed one third by the state and two thirds by the hospital insurance organizations (Blue Cross). The Legislature appropriated $100,- 000 and the industry put up the remaining $200,000.

Pioneer For Nation
"In detail and in scope this study will be the pacesetter for the nation," Smith declared.

One insurance commission spokesman, who declined quotation by name said the study could last as long as two years.
Smith ordered it in 1958.

Smith said he will select a committee to carry out the investigation, "but who they are or when they will be named I cannot disclose now."

The group is expected to include representatives of the insurance industry, medical profession, hospital administration and possibly lawmakers.

Results From Increase
The survey is the direct result of Blue Cross rate boosts in 1958. The main cause of the increases was dwindling reserve funds of the various Blue Cross plans across the state.

In testimony before the commission, the plans contended increased hospitalization costs and greater use of hospital facilities led to depletion of the reserves.

State Takes Over
School Affairs HARRISBURG (AP)—The
auditor general said Wednesday the state should take over disbursement of state funds in the Hazle Twp. school district in Luzerne County.

Charles C. Smith earlier this week reported his auditors found money improperly spent by the district in the 1957-58 school year. The Justice Department has started an investigation.

Smith suggested the Department of Public Instruction step in to handle the district's fiscal affairs as a condition for releasing further state subsidies to the district.

Good Morning!
Anyway, there's one good thing about these times.
The only wolf at the door is the one who's calling for his date.

Photos Provide Clues In Slayings
OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Photographs taken by three socially prominent women shortly before they were slain gave investigators new leads in the case Thursday.

State's Atty. Harland Warren told newsmen the films had given new leads, but he declined to go into detail or to allow reporters to have a close look.

The pictures were taken on 35
mm. color film in a camera owned by one of the women. They were taken Monday, when the women arrived in Starved Rock State Park to hike and rest.

The camera was retrieved near the entrance to the cave in St.
Louis Canyon where the battered bodies of the victims were found Wednesday.

Immigration
Boost Asked
By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower urged Thursday the United States fling wider its gates to immigrants and refugees, including Orientals, and drastically change the national-origins basis for admission.

Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Immigration subcommittee promptly declared Eisenhower's sweeping proposals have no chance. Walter suggested they were offered as a Republican vote-attracting maneuver in this presidential election year.

Several Republicans—and Democrats—stepped forward to support Eisenhower in this renewal of a campaign the President has waged off and on, during the seven years he has been in the White House.

Eisenhower Proposal
As set forth in a special message to Congress, Eisenhower's immigration plan would double the overall number of immigrants each year from the present 154,000 to 308,000, the annual total to be fixed at one-sixth of one percent of the U.S. population based on this country's 1960 census figures; and abandon the long-controversial concept of basing national immigration quotas on the racial and ethnic composition of the United States as of 1920, and substitute a new base—the actual number accepted from each area between 1924 and 1959.

If adopted, this change would mean admission of many more Italians and nationals of other southern Europeans which always have had more persons seeking to enter the United States than their quotas would allow.

Fewer Britons
Conversely, the new approach would reduce migrants from northern European nations and Britain, countries which customarily have not filled their quotas.

Unused quotas would be distributed among nations with oversubscribed quotas.

The current restrictive limit of 2,000 on quotas within what is called the Asiatic-Pacific triangle would be removed. This would place countries like Japan on the same footing as other nations and erase a situation which has irked many Eastern peoples for decades.

Admission of what Eisenhower referred to as "many thousands of persons who are refugees without a country as a result of flight from persecution" would be permitted.

No Separate Trials
Refused to allow the defendants separate trials.

They were tried together in a three-month case which ended last Saturday with a hung jury and a mistrial.

The 42-year-old doctor comforted Carole and apparently offered his congratulations, as tears spilled from her cheeks to splash the V-neck tan-plaid dress she wore to court.

It appeared doubtful that Miss Tregoff would be freed until Friday.

The court didn't explain why bail was granted Carole but denied Dr. Finch. But when the jury deadlocked on their first trial it was 10-2 in favor of convicting the doctor, and 8-4 in favor of acquitting his pretty red-haired mistress.

Nears Million Mark
WASHINGTON (AP)—Pioneer V will celebrate its first week aloft Friday by passing about 2 a.m. EST the million-mile mark on its long jaunt out of this world.

In a special message to Congress, Eisenhower announced that the government for the first time will guarantee exporters against losses arising from political risks abroad—in effect, a federal credit insurance plan for export sales.

Such risks include curbs on the movement of currency, seizures of property, barriers to imports, and losses arising from war or civil strife. These have deterred many U. S. businesses from seeking foreign markets.

Three Victims
The victims were Frances Murphy, 47, wife of Robert Murphy,
a vice president of Borg-Warner Corp.; Mildred Lindquist, 50, wife of Robert Lindquist, a vice president of the Harris Trust & Savings Bank; and Lillian Oetting, 50, wife of George Oetting, an audit supervisor for the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Flame throwers were used to melt snow and ice around the cave in an effort to find clues.
Civil Defense workers manning
the two portable flame devices made progress slowly in the canyon, where the snow was knee deep and the temperature below freezing.

Supt. William Morris of the Illinois State Police said that a sex maniac—or two or more of them
—beat the women to death.
Pathologists had not established definitely whether the victims had been raped.

GOES TO FOSTER PARENTS
—Alice Marie, 4, is shown at her home in Old Bridge, N. J., after the State Child Welfare Board agreed to let her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Combs adopt her. The board had originally said that the Combses could not adopt Alice (who has an I. Q. of 138) because they could not offer proper cultural atmosphere.

Nine Crashes
In '60 Take 400 Lives

NEW YORK (AP)—The
crash of a Northwest Airlines plane near Tell City, Ind., Thursday was the year's ninth major plane disaster. Nearly 400 persons have been killed in less than three months.

Previous crashes were:
Jan. 6—54 killed in a National Airlines plane at Bolivia, N.C.

Jan. 18—50 killed in a Capital Airlines plane near Hold-croft, Va.

Jan. 19—58 killed in two separate crashes in Turkey, 42 in a Scandinavian plane and 16 in a U. S. Navy reconnaissance plane.

Jan. 21—37 killed in an Avi-anca plane at Jamaica.

Feb. 5—59 killed near La Paz,
Bolivia, in the crash of a Lloyd Aéreo Boliviano plane.

Feb. 25—90 killed in two separate crashes, 29 in a DC7 Italian airliner at Shannon, Ireland, and 61 in the collision of a U.S.
Navy plane and a Brazilian airliner over Rio de Janeiro.

Durocher,
Laraine Day
Plan Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After months in shod waters, the 12-year marriage of Laraine Day and Leo Durocher is on the rocks.

Since November rumors have been popping that all was not well in the home life of the beautiful actress and baseball's onetime stormy petrel.

But the couple denied the rift that many blamed on Durocher's more than passing fancy in dancer Larri Thomas, estranged wife of actor John Brinlfeld.

Wednesday night Laraine and Leo sat down with attorneys to thrash out a property settlement
before she files for divorce.

From the beginning, Hollywood considered their marriage one of the most improbable in a town where novel matches are commonplace.

Durocher, now 54, was 16 years older than the blue-eyed movie queen, who was starring in such films as the Dr. Kildare series and "Keep Your Powder Dry."

Leo was a graduate of the rough and tumble St. Louis Cardinals Gas House Gang of the 1930s.

Heard a plane going over
in an easterly direction, and all
at once I heard popping sounds,"
he said. "It sounded like shotgun shells or a little louder."

"I looked, and two parts were coming down. One was not over three-fourths of a mile from home."

"It's so messed up, I can just say it looks terrible."

Another farmer, Frank White-
head, described the scene:
"Clothes were hanging from trees. Pieces of bodies were scattered around everywhere.
But there wasn't enough to them to tell how many."

Second Occurs
As Plane Hits
Indiana Farm

TELL CITY, Ind. (AP)—A Northwest Airlines turboprop blew up in flight Thursday, killing all 63 persons aboard. A second explosion followed as the plane's body blasted a crater in an Ohio River hill country farm and disintegrated.

The FBI sent agents to the scene to determine whether there was any violation of federal law. Such an investigation would include the possibility of sabotage.

(No Pennsylvanians were aboard the crashed plane).

State Police Sgt. Joe O'Brien said the plane was last heard from over Scotland, Ind., about 60 air miles from the crash site.
He said the pilot reported no trouble.

So much wreckage rained
over a wide area, as the plane came apart in the air, that it was first believed two planes had collided.

However, the Federal Aviation Agency and State Police said all the pieces they could find were from one plane—
Northwest's Lockheed Electra Flight 710 from Minneapolis to Miami, Fla.

An hour and a half after news of the crash in the remote Indiana-Kentucky border country, an anonymous caller who sounded like a young boy told Chicago police a bomb had been placed aboard a plane at Midway Airport.

The Northwest flight had stopped at Midway. Police found nothing at the time and said they were convinced the call was a prank.

A wing and two engines,
charred black, were found about five miles from the place where the plane's body hit.

Almost nothing was left of the plane's body. Hours after the crash, a column of blue-gray smoke rose from the crater, about 25 feet deep and 40 feet wide.

There were six crew members and 57 passengers aboard the plane.

The passengers included the wife and three children of Morris Chalfen of Minneapolis, promoter of the famous Holiday On Ice show now performing in Paris.

Judge John A. Sharbaro, 70, of the Cook County (Chicago)
Superior Court was another victim. State Trooper Louis Gayer of the Jasper, Ind., police post said, "We haven't really found anything that you could count
a body."

Twenty state troopers searched the densely wooded hills
along the Ohio River on foot.
They tried using jeeps but made little progress. There are few roads in the area.

"Those hills are almost straight up and down, almost mountains," a trooper said. The scene was midway between Louisville, Ky., and Evansville, Ind., on the Kentucky-Indiana border.

Ed Laparie of Minneapolis was captain of the plane—the ninth to go down in major air disasters throughout the world this year.

Seventeen passengers boarded the plane in Minneapolis, the rest in Chicago.

Officials said the widely scattered wreckage showed that the plane had exploded in flight. Albert Harpe, a farmer said the crash.

"I heard a plane going over
in an easterly direction, and all
at once I heard popping sounds,"
he said. "It sounded like shot-
gun shells or a little louder."

"I looked, and two parts were coming down. One was not over three-fourths of a mile from
home."

"It's so messed up, I can just
say it looks terrible."

Another farmer, Frank White-
head, described the scene:
"Clothes were hanging from

scattered around everywhere.

West Urges
Missile Test Notification

GENEVA (AP)—The Western powers proposed at the 10-nation disarmament conference Thursday that all nations agree at once to report their missile test flights in advance to avoid the danger of war by accident.

U.S. delegate Frederick M. Eaton linked this idea with two other suggestions for easing world tensions—banning weapons of mass destruction in outer space and prompt halting of production of nuclear materials for war purposes.

In the two-hour session the Communist side exhibited the first sign of interest in the Western plan since the talks began Tuesday.

Hopeful Sign
Between them, Polish delegate
Marian Naszkowski and Czechoslovak delegate Jiri Nosek asked seven questions relating to mechanics of the three-phased arms cut system advanced by the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada.

This development in itself was regarded as a hopeful sign in the Western camp. One source said it showed at least that the conference was moving into the realm of detailed discussions.

Eaton said the world should not expect the conference to give birth suddenly to a complete disarmament agreement "like Venus arising from the sea."

Controls A Must
He also warned the Communist side—the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria—that the U.S. government would never enter into a disarmament agreement which failed to contain a central element of control.

Eaton did not go into detail concerning his proposal for a proposal for a notification system on missile flights. Other Westerners suggested, however, it might be possible to work out such a system using some existing international body.

A ban against sending weapons of mass destruction into outer space is referred to in the first stage of the Western plan. It calls for an immediate study with the purpose of setting up a system of on-site inspections to prevent violations.

Rains Burst
Florida Dam
By The Associated Press
BUFFETING winds and smashing rains belted central Florida Thursday, and the fourth major storm of the month plastered the Northeast with ice and snow.

Three days before spring's official debut, portions of the Midwest and South were buried under the deepest snow of the winter. New snow fell in far west Texas.

The snow storms were blamed for at least 22 deaths.

Marathon rains continued in Florida, bursting the Lake Magdalene Dam in North Tampa.

Water from the lake, a catch basin for northern Hillsborough and Pasco counties, threatened the homes of 25,000 persons.

Police and rescue crews aided about 200 persons distressed by rising waters at Dade City, 45 miles northeast of Tampa.

About 40 or 50 families in a low area near Orlando, where 7.28 inches of rain fell since Monday, were taken from their homes.

In the hard-hit Plant City area where some 600 persons were driven from their homes by high water Wednesday, water appeared to be receding.

Meditation

Timothy 1:3-11

The aim of the Christian discipline is the love that springs from a pure heart, from a good conscience, and from a sincere faith. (I Timothy 1:3, Moffatt.)

The aim of military discipline is the destruction of the enemy. The aim of Christian discipline is love.
"This is my command; you are to love one another as I have loved you. To lay down life for his friends,
man has no greater love than that."

It is love that springs from a pure heart. Pure means "free from what harm, vitiates, weakens or pollutes." But this love must spring from a good conscience, too. Is there a bad conscience? Paul speaks of people whose consciences are seared as with a hot iron. He uses often the term "good conscience."

Here are no commands:
"Squads right," "Company halt," "Eyes front." The commands of the Christian manual of arms are "Pure heart," "Good conscience,"
"Sincere faith."

Napoleon disciplined the armies of imperial France.
He was called the "scourge and scavenger of Europe."
Jesus, the first-born of a great brotherhood, disciplined a few disciples, and is called "the Saviour of the world."

PRAYER: May we realize anew, our Father, that "love so amazing, so divine, demands our soul, our life, our all." Amen.

Thought For The Day

world, except as man makes it so."

Stroudsburg Lions Hold Annual St. Pat's Party

STROUDSBURG Lions observed in the Penn-Stroud Hotel its annual St. Patrick's Day celebration and Ladies Night Tuesday.

Patrick F. Sherin, secretary of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn., was the main speaker. His topic was "Irish Culture."

He pointed out that the personality and history of St. Patrick is not a matter of conjecture, that writing, he noted, has been passed down some 1,500 years.

Sherin added, "Ireland has achieved with a pen what the sword could not accomplish. Men and women of Irish blood have defended the flags of many countries with love, glory and devotion."

Following the main speaker Irish songs were sung. A solo by Mrs. Joe Barnes and three girls from Stroud Union High, under the direction of Numa Snyder, sang and danced an Irish jig.

William P. Deering was surprised with a television set gift. He is the club's public relations head.

The program was under the direction of Gerald Shanley Sr. Deering was master of ceremonies.

Dietrick Attends State Parley

A. NORMAN Dietrick of the local soil conservation service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, returned last night from a three-day conference at Penn State University.

The purpose of the conference was to bring all local agents up-to-date in services and technical advances in the various fields of the service. Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, Secretary Department of Forests and Water, spoke at the last session on "Multi-Uses of Reservoirs."

Dr. Goddard mentioned the proposed dam at Tocks Island on the Delaware River.

Commissioners Vote $200 County Educators

Allotment For Road Aid Wary Of Study

MONROE County Commissioners yesterday voted an allotment of $200 to aid in the reconstruction of Legislative Route 45046-1, located along the Brodheads Creek.

The route, which begins at the Stokes Mill Road and extends to the Sanborn property along the waterway, was washed out during high water in the fall of 1957.

$2,050 Estimate
A total of $2,050 was estimated for the reconstruction of the road.

Tax Appeal
The commissioners announced they will appear at the PUC hearing on the closing of Gravel Place Crossing scheduled for March 23.

A hearing on the tax appeal of Girard H. Gilpin, Coolbaugh Township, under the reassessment program was held yesterday by the commissioners. Representing Gilpin was Atty. Max Cohen.

It was announced that 1,509 persons received surplus food this week, while last month the total was 1,531.

MONROE County educators placed some reservations on the Governor's appointment of a commission to study schools in the Commonwealth, the Daily Record learned yesterday.

Supervising Principal Carl T. Secor, of the East Stroudsburg Joint Schools, said a study made recently by the Middle States Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools could be used by the commission.

He said the areas of the study may not be precisely what the commission desires, but it has not yet been satisfactorily explained just what the commission is after.

2-3 Inches Of Snow Falls Here; Turns To Slush

A WET BLANKET OF SNOW, estimated at two to three inches, fell on the Poconos late Wednesday and early yesterday.

The storm created hazardous driving conditions in some areas, but there were no reports of accidents attributable to the snow.

Warm temperatures yesterday changed the snow into slush in most areas, inconveniencing pedestrians.

The Monroe County office of the State Highways Dept. reported all roads open. A spokesman for the department said highways were wet but passable.

Word Through Night

The department began to call out its first workers in higher elevations of Monroe County about 8 p.m. Wednesday. They worked through the night.

The highway spokesman said 29 trucks, five graders, seven loaders, one shovel and 78 men were in service cinderling and plowing area roads.

Secor wondered whether or not the new study will not just be a duplication of effort.

Earl F. Groner, superintendent of Stroud Union Schools, said about the same as Secor, adding that $300,000 is a lot of money to spend, although, he said, some good may come of the study.

Groner said the persons on the commission seem to be fine at present, but he wondered if they would continue to be of the same calibre.

Revision Needed

Willis Dunlap, supervising principal of Pocono Mountain Joint Schools, said a revision of the curriculum is needed, but questioned the extent of the study, as did Secor and Groner.

Two other officials contacted said they had not had time to completely study the text of the release, and would not, therefore, comment on its content.

IBEW Backs Yetter For Assemblyman

A UNION local recently endorsed State Rep. Van D. Yetter Jr.'s candidacy for re-election despite the fact that Yetter is opposed in the Monroe County primary by a member of the local.

The action was taken by Local 367, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, at a meeting in the Forks Township Volunteer Fire Co. clubhouse.

George J. Wilson Jr., secretary, said that it was the first time that Local 367 has ever endorsed a candidate before the primary.

Opposing Yetter in the Democratic primary is Stuart Pipher, Tannersville, a member of Local 367, and president of the AFL-CIO Council of Monroe and Pike Counties, is the unopposed Republican candidate.

Wilson gave these reasons for the local's endorsement of Yetter: In his two terms (1955-56 and 1959-60) he has sponsored or co-sponsored 23 bills which became law; he is a member of four committees of paramount importance to Monroe County — agriculture and dairy, game and conservation, highways and fisheries.

Greentown Native Dies

GREENTOWN — Paul Peter Marsch, 58, died March 16 in Knight Hospital, Mansfield Training School, Mansfield, Conn.

Born in Greentown, he was the son of the late Peter and Emma Pasold Marsch.

He had been a resident of Connecticut for the past 15 years.

One Survivor

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Esther Miller, New Haven, Conn.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Frey Funeral Home, Sterling, with Rev. Dr. Frederick Fulmer officiating.

Interment will be in Newfound-land Moravian Cemetery, and Northampton Counties.

It will involve 2.14 miles of Route 12 in a northerly direction from Wind Gap, the department said.

Employers In Keystone Pay Flat 2.7

EFFECTIVE next month all Pennsylvania employers will pay a flat 2.7 per cent into the Unemployment Compensation Fund. This measure was taken recently due to the payments made to unemployed during the past recession.

Previously employers have paid from 6 per cent to 2.7 per cent based on the labor turnover in the individual employer. Those with a small turnover paid less than those with a large turnover.

Employers paid into the fund on the first $3,000 of the individual employee.

Legislature has reduced the "peril point" of the fund balance from 300 million to 250 million dollars. When the fund reaches that point the rates will automatically drop back to the 6 per cent from 2.7 per cent contribution.

William L. Batt Jr., secretary of labor and industry said he believes, barring unforeseen reverses, the "peril point" will be passed by Jan. 1, 1963.

District Deserves Vote

An attitude of Congress which is difficult to explain and impossible to justify is showing itself again with respect to proposals for local self-government in the District of Columbia.

Year after year, for almost a century, residents of the nation's capital city have vainly sought home-rule. They had it to a limited extent from 1871 to 1875 when Congress permitted them to elect a non-voting delegate to the national House.

This privilege was withdrawn during President Grant's second term and has never been renewed. As a result, the 870,000 citizens of the District of Columbia are voteless.

They have no voice in municipal government and must return to their native states on election day, if they wish to cast a presidential ballot.

While this situation prevails with respect to the City of Washington itself, Congress is reported to be looking favorably upon pending legislation that proposes representation in the national House for the territories of Guam and the Virgin Islands.

The 40,000 residents of Guam would be permitted to elect one non-voting delegate to the House. The same privilege would be extended to the 32,000 Virgin Islanders.

But no similar concession is in prospect for inhabitants of Washington—even though they be 10 times as numerous.

Instead of stalling in this matter, this is one of the inequities in our system of representative government that Congress ought to be desirous of correcting.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Time Off For Business

A recent case of treatment of a prisoner raises some questions of power and propriety.

In 1957, Frank J. Matula, secretary of Local 396, Package and General Utility Drivers Union, was convicted of committing perjury before the California Legislature in connection with his part in a rubbish monopoly. He was fined $2,500, sentenced to six months in jail and placed on five years' probation.

During the time between conviction and sentencing last October, Mr. Matula was appointed a trustee of the International Teamsters, of which his union is a part. He appealed his case, lost it before California's Supreme Court and duly began serving his time.

But Mr. Hoffa's union, it seems, had planned a meeting in Washington during January and all trustees were expected to be present. No excuses.

So Mr. Matula applied for, and was granted, a two-week furlough from jail by the judge who sentenced him. He was gone 10 days.

The Pennsylvania Story

Side Saddle Opinions

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — A noted nationally syndicated columnist asserted earlier this week that so-called big city scandals (where Democrats are in control) may prove to be quite harmful to Democratic presidential hopes this year.

Philadelphia happens to be one of the cities mentioned by our colleague of the Washington typewriter keys—Philadelphia, a Democratic stronghold where now an election fraud probe is being eyed. Coincidentally, Governor Lawrence was asked at his press conference this question on the Philadelphia vote scandal:

"Do you think as it stands now it is harmful to the Democratic Party?"

Mr. Lawrence replied that "nothing has happened yet," referring to the fact that only an application had been filed for a grand jury investigation, but he had this to say:

"At lot of people are indicted who are not convicted. They're not even indicted yet and you're asking me what will be the situation and I don't know what the situation will be until I know what the results are."

"We had a situation in Pittsburgh where we had a grand jury and they indicted three or four of my (as Mayor) cabinet members. Not one of them went to jail. Every one of them was exonerated, either the case collapsed or they were acquitted."

Next question: "Was there any evidence of any reaction in the election that year?"

Mr. Lawrence: "The party is still in power out there. At my last election I got the biggest vote I ever got."

Deadline Jitters—It never seems to fall . . . Every year at this time the State Department of Revenue finds itself beset by queries from anxious motorists wondering (some vehemently) why they haven't received their new license tags (stickers now) which must be displayed on and after April 1—(no foolin').

To all such queries the department replies—in effect—keep your shirt on, applications are processed the day received and unless you're a "deadline Dick" you'll have your stickers in time.

And then there are those who reach for the panic button (understandably perhaps) when they suddenly receive an application for tags—for a car already sold to someone else, junked, etc.

Says the Department on this score: All that is necessary in such cases is to return the application to the department with a notation written across the application as to the reason why the application should not have been sent in the first place.

It was pointed out for example that a sale or trade-in on an out-of-state dealer does not show up on the report forms used by the department to "purge" its files.

Dealer reports and returns such as those just noted are the basic file check-points of the department.

For the department to run its own constant file-and-purge (of more than 4,000,000 registrations) would cost approximately $30,000 a year (which even then wouldn't catch those they don't know about) as opposed to $4000 a year to send out the applications that are "obsolete."

The Patient Ones—Four years ago Bucks County Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Charles H. Boehm, was named Pennsylvania's State Superintendent of Public Instruction and with the advent of the new Lawrence Administration he was reappointed to the post.

Somewhat amazingly perhaps, Bucks County in the interim has been without an "on-the-scene" county superintendent. Dr. Boehm having been authorized a leave of absence originally. . . . The folks in the Bucks hinterland however at last apparently are becoming restive.

Some of the schools in the county now are urging that Bucks County get a new full-time county superintendent of schools.

Manual A Mishmash

I have carefully read "Air Reserve Center Training Manual—Student Text—Reserve Non-Commissioned Officer Course—Continental Air Command." The issue of this which I read appeared in a small paper "U. S. A."

It is a mishmash of clippings and citations, truths, half-digested material and tells the reader nothing of any very great significance.

If this manual is intended for high school graduates, it is inadequate anti-Communist material. I want to analyze it as an example of what should not be done.

The material deals with espionage and reaches this conclusion:

"Another rather foolish remark often heard is that Americans have a right to know what's going on. Most people realize the foolishness of such a suggestion."

"If a football team should start telling the other side the plays it planned to use, their opponents would sweep them off the field. It's the same in war—hot or cold; if we tell our secrets, we are likely to be beaten, and beaten badly."

Characteristic of the thinking that has gone into this pamphlet, this paragraph contains two separate ideas:

1. It is foolish for the American taxpayer to want to know how his money—with emphasis on the word, his—is being spent;

2. If the truth were known to the enemy, we should be beaten.

The conflict of ideas here is that the power of the budget, under our Constitution, rests in the House of Representatives as the place of origin for appropriations. Not a single item is secret. The taxpayer has the Constitutional right to know how that money is being spent and hearings are held before Congressional committees.

What needs to be kept secret are strategic and tactical matters and they are sometimes made available to the enemy by military officers in speeches, articles and testimony before Congressional committees.

It is not foolish for the taxpayer to ask questions. That is his civic duty.

Now we come to an unbelievable section of this manual. It is under a subhead, "Communism in Religion," but nothing in it refers to Communism in religion. Obviously that is impossible because Communism, or to use a more correct term, Marxism-Leninism, reject religion, being atheistic, materialistic and pragmatic.

What the author meant to say was that some persons connected with religious organizations were also associated with Communist-front organizations. That does not make religion Communist or any American sect, Marxist. It merely says that certain individuals have a dual and conflicting relationship.

Somewhat, the Revised Standard Version of the Bible is brought into this as a form of anti-religious activity. The paragraph on this subject is short, condensed and nonsensical. After all the Bible was not originally written in English.

The King James Version, revised or original, is a translation from Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek, just as the Vulgate is and can only be that. There are translations in all languages and some are better than others.

Before we quarrel about the perfection of any translation, we must know Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek and the language into which they are translated. There is no Marxist translation of the Bible into any language.

Then there is a long discussion of the misbehavior of individual clergymen. Much of this data is taken from the various hearings of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, but it does not prove that Protestant Christianity should be discarded.

I can agree that the judgment of Dr. John A. Mackay, retiring president of Princeton Theological Seminary, on Red China is unsound, but what does that prove about the Revised Standard Version of the Bible?

It is difficult to follow the logic of this and I wonder precisely what such a pamphlet would do to convince a young American that Communism is evil. It concludes on this note:

" . . . We believe in the dignity of man—of the right of every individual to choose his manner of living, worship, his occupation, in short, everything that he does, so long as the rights of other individuals are respected. In contrast, the Communists believe the state to be supreme—in individual lives, in family lives, in morals, in religion, in government, and in the economics of making a living."

But the manual has nothing to do with this conclusion. In fact, it is a negation of the rights of a worker in religion to pursue his conscience.

'Meanest Man' Nominated

Dear Editor: I have herewith a nomination for the "Meanest Man of Monroe County."

The four boys and baby girl of the Jay Warner family in Effort did have a thorough collic dog to romp with, to tumble over, and protect them; but that is all changed now.

Sunday, the collic came struggling home acting very sick and vomiting. It was thought that he had gotten a dose of poison, but upon closer examination it was found that "Sandy" was shot in the stomach with a .22-caliber bullet.

Yes, he had come home to die.

So here is my nomination for the M.M. of M.C.: the one who shot and killed the playmate and protector of the Warner children.

"Silver Dollar" Tabor, a Denver millionaire in the gay 90s, built the town's first oprey house. It was an ornate, gingerbread affair, and Tabor the tycoon loved every fancy brick and chandelier.

One item displeased him, however: a portrait of William Shakespeare in the guilded lobby. "Take that thing down!"

roared Tabor. "Who is William Shakespeare, and what in hell did he ever do for Colorado?"

"Who says I'm growing old?" demands Red Skelton. "I still chase pretty young girls! The only difference is that now when I chase them, I can't remember why I started chasing them!"

There is a good chance that the world famous Passion Play will play at an area theatre this Summer.

Preliminary plans are in the making to secure a nationally known stage organization to produce the religious play at the rate of six times and a week during a 10-week period.

Harry Freedman's venture into the bridge world was a success as the 70-odd persons who attended his initial forum at the Penn Stroud Hotel the other night attested.

Freedman, the owner of Harry's Farm near Columbia, N. J., will hold his first full-scale instruction and class Monday at the Stroud, starting at 8 p.m.

Harold Newman, the old radio tycoon, dress king and now stocks expert, has earned the reputation as the potato monarch of the Stroudsburgs.

Harold, a quiet but efficient advisor on many matters, picks up "spuds" by the carloads and distributes them to his friends around the county.

However, brother Newman isn't advocating whether they be mashed, French fried, scalloped, hash browned, home fried or boiled. He leaves that end up to the housewife ingenuity.

Frank is one of Eastburg's biggest boosters, serving in many organizations to help the borough gain in stature physically, athletically, socially, and financially.

Interpreting The News

Asia Isn't Abandoning Communism

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News
Analyst

A nation-by-nation survey among the free countries of Asia shows no great swing away from Communism or toward the West during the past year, despite the Red Chinese demonstrations of aggressiveness.

India is going through a ferment as a result of the Red invasion of far-Himalayan territory which she claims, and because of the Red terror in Tibet. A state election went against the formerly controlling Communists.

The Allen-Scott Report

Senate May Not Act

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President Eisenhower is being told there is little chance the Senate will approve three appointments to major regulatory agencies.

Hit by this backstage Democratic avowal are:

Earl Kintner, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, whom the President has designated for a full seven-year term.

Robert E. Lee, member of the investigation-scarred Federal Communications Commission, who has been proposed for a second seven-year term.

Timothy Murphy, Boston, former National Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, whom the President wants to name to a five-year

The upshot in history — and especially whether the resentment is against Red China or against international communism, as entities—remains to be determined.

The reaction is accepted generally as a gain for the West, but only to the point where a more real neutrality may supplant what seemed for a time to be a more Red-tinged neutrality.

There is no sign of an out-and-out pro-Western alignment in the cold war. Military suppression and an anti-Communist educational campaign have reduced the party's influence in Burma.

The survey, made by the State Department, reflects little change in 1959 as compared with 1958 in many of the smaller countries in the point of Communist internal influence.

Taking it all in all, assessment of net profits in the cold war in Asia in 1959 becomes largely a matter of weighing the as yet not wholly tangible developments in India against the coldly tangible story of Tibet.

vacancy on the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Although the appointments of Kintner and Lee were sent to the Senate more than a month ago, no move has been made to consider them. They are gathering dust in a pigeon-hole of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, and apparently are destined to continue doing that for the remainder of this Congress.

Senator Warren Magnuson, (D., Wash.), chairman, not only has scheduled no hearings on these important presidential selections, but has no plans to do so.

In fact, he has already gone further than that regarding Commissioner Lee. Magnuson has notified the White House there is virtually no likelihood his Committee will confirm the FCC member, and therefore nothing is going to be done about him. In other words, his reappointment will be "left hanging on the vine."

For Federal Trade Chairman Kintner the backstage situation is not quite so gloomy.

There is still a possibility that Senate Democratic leaders may lift their unannounced ban against his reappointment.

That has been discussed, but final decision was postponed until the civil rights issue is out of the way.

Why Gunning—But Murphy is running into a lot of Democratic opposition for appointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The White House has been taking soundings on that, and they have been hotly negative so far as the Democrats are concerned. Particularly irking them is that the former VFW commander would be named to a Democratic vacancy, although he is a close friend of Vice President Nixon and seconded his nomination at the 1956 convention in San Francisco.

It is proposed to name Murphy to the five-year vacancy resulting from the resignation of Commissioner Anthony Arpaia. The Connecticut Democrat has been under quiet scrutiny for some time by the House investigating committee, headed by Representative Oren Harris (D., Ark.).

If the reappointments of Kintner and Lee are stymied in the Senate, they could continue in their jobs for the remainder of the Eisenhower Administration. In Kintner's case, he would be able to do that under the FTC law which provides that an incumbent may stay until his successor has been approved by the Senate. Lee could be retained by the President by giving him a recess appointment after Congress adjourns. That would remain in effect until next January.

Operating in both these instances is a mixture of partisan politics and sharp controversy over policies.

Lee has had clashes with the Harris Committee and the House Small Business Committee, headed by Representative Wright Patman (D., Tex.). A one-time special agent of the FBI, Lee was on close terms with the late Senator Joseph McCarthy (R., Wis.), who was credited with getting him the FCC appointment in 1953.

Kintner has also tangled with the Harris Committee on charges of being lax in acting against "payola" and deceptive TV advertising.

The Democrats are also making no secret of their antipathy to filling choice jobs with appointments that will run well into the next administration that takes office in January 1961. They contend such selections should be left to the new President, regardless of whether he is a Republican or Democrat.

But it goes without saying their overriding interest is Democratic and not GOP.

Flashes—Former President Truman will be invited by the Philippine government to go there on July 4 to accept a high decoration and to address a giant Independence Day celebration. The Philippine invitation will be personally presented by Ambassador Carlos Romulo, who will fly to Independence, Mo., for this purpose, accompanied by former Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman.

"But, madam, that's not our cape coat—that's a pup senti!"

Dear Abby

Why Want To Take Her Home?

Dear Abby: No names please. I am a respected business man. I have in my employ an attractive young woman who is divorced. When I go home in the evening I pass her apartment.

My wife says that under no circumstances should I take this woman to work or give her a ride home. I feel that my wife is being very small and narrow-minded. These orders came as a result of my giving this woman a ride home one evening. Do you think she is being fair?

NAMELESS. Dear Nameless: You owe your wife more than you owe your employee. Respect her "small and narrow-minded" wishes.

Dear Abby: Dr. A. has been our family physician for years. We are not satisfied with his services and would like to switch to Dr. B. I have heard that it is unethical for a doctor to treat another doctor's patient. Can you tell me how to go about making this change? No one in the family is ill at this time.

DISSATISFIED. Dear Dissatisfied: First, tell Dr. A. that you are dissatisfied with his services and want to make a change. Then go to Dr. B. and tell him that you were formerly Dr. A's patient, but informed him that you were making a change.

Dear Abby: Please, please, please print this. It's too late for me, but maybe it will help someone else.

I had a nice home and good parents. Of course I thought they were bossy and old-fashioned because they didn't want me to go with a certain boy of a different faith who had a bad reputation. So I listened to my boy friend and didn't let my parents push me around. I lied and cheated and finally married the guy. He "understood" me. My parents didn't. How dumb can a 23-year-old girl get?

Three months ago I buried my mother. I broke her heart, Abby. She just gave up. I was her only daughter and I betrayed her. I am still married and now who do you think is pushing me around? My idol, who taught me how to lie and cheat is now lying and cheating on me. If I ever have children, I pray to God I never have a daughter. My message is: Girls listen to your parents. They love you.

"KNEW IT ALL AT 23; KNOWS NOTHING AT 26"

Dear Abby: Three of us girls would like to know if you think it is wrong to neck with a boy in the show. We have asked our mothers and they said if they saw us kissing a boy in the show it would be the last movie we would ever see. Are they old-fashioned or are we too young? We are 13.

THREE GIRLS WITH ONE QUESTION.

Dear Abby: It is not proper to kiss a boy in the show at any age.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet "What Every Teen-Ager Wants To Know," send 25c and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Rickover Sees U.S. Losing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover said yesterday the United States is "frittering away" its lead over the Soviet Union in atomic submarines. He called for a big step up in U.S. A-sub building.

Rickover said the Soviet Union has shown intense interest in producing nuclear-powered submarines, and he pictured Red missile-launching subs as a greater threat to America than intercontinental ballistic missiles.

"If they wish, they can in about three or four, five years have more nuclear submarines operating than we have," Rickover told a joint atomic energy subcommittee.

WELCOME W

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

I told you so! However, as snow storms go this one was anyaaal. Not enough to make me go home-hunting again; just enough to make me dither around about the wisdom of that trip to State College tonight that I had my heart set on.

Life would be so much more simple if the answers to all debatable problems were obvious. Coming back over the snow roads from Henryville, where we had been interviewing Mrs. Elliot, "the boys" and I were discussing the interviews.

For her, life must be singularly uncomplicated. There was only one answer to any question: why she had gone to Ecuador, why she had dared to live with the tribe who killed her husband; when she was going back; "When I feel it is God's will."

I am not being flip. Most of us at some time in our life, perplexed, unsure of the proper course, have sincerely and humbly sought guidance in an important decision. But seldom has the answer come so definite, clear-cut and unmistakable.

So we blunder through, hoping that because we have taken one path—that it really is the right one.

However, if we are honest with ourselves, it's probably our own fault. It's no good trying to land an aircraft by radar or GCA or whatever it is, unless you've learned how to operate it, and if we're making so much static with our own arguments and yakity, yakity, it's no wonder we can't hear that "still small voice."

The Wyckoff Shopper
"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

Not all the problems at Wyckoff's occur in the merchandising offices or on the selling floor, believe me! Dottie Dunn, our switchboard operator, had her own perplexing moment the other morning when a customer called and asked if we sell rabbit ears.

Dottie's first thought, of course, had to do with Peter Rabbit and the sprightly bunnies that hop around in the woods . . . but the customer was not inquiring about anything so gruesome as severed ears from a dead bunny. She wanted an indoor TV antenna.

Whenever I think of Dottie Dunn, I think of House Beautiful, the American Home, and other decorating magazines . . . casseroles in an automatic electric oven . . . early American furniture . . . dainty old fashioned bouquets in a milk glass bowl . . . and beautiful packages wrapped with endless patience and an eagle eye for pretty color combinations. Dottie will sit at her switchboard and, between calls, spend endless moments snipping tiny designs from old birthday or Christmas cards, and pasting them painstakingly on the lid of a parcel . . . or manipulating artificial morning glories from Marion Leedom's gift department into a graceful bouquet to tie at one side. Her home is all the things you imagine such a personality would create. I presume it is her love for beauty and order in her surroundings that makes it possible, even on the busiest days, for Dottie to be gentle and friendly to all the customers whom she welcomes, by telephone service, into our store.

For weeks I have been ashamed of my one and only purse. Not that there is anything wrong with it . . . it's a perfectly good Seton leather pouch attached to a sturdy handle. But it was designed, I believe, for work only . . . to carry all those sixty-some odd things that are supposed to be tucked away in a woman's purse. It was not made for a dressy afternoon when one is wearing a flowered satin turban and a "dressy dress."

Realizing this, I decided to see what Bea Gorgy has to offer in dressy bags. The visit to our handbag department was a most enlightening one. Bea's counters are fairly blooming with glorious bags in bone . . . pink . . . blue . . . metallic bronzy-green . . . cocoa . . . and other leathers. I did feel, however, that right now, before the advent of Spring suits and dresses, I would do better to stay with black . . . so my purchase was a comparatively inexpensive but dressy black faille. Later, I hope to invest in one of the glorious tapestries that will wear forever and coordinate with so many colors and fabrics. These are priced from 15.00, and well worth every penny.

Bob Clark, city editor of the Daily Record called me the other afternoon to ask about Mrs. Fred Kresge of Stony Acres, Henryville. He had heard that this remarkable woman was celebrating her 68th birthday. I could tell him very little except that Mrs. Kresge is indeed a wonderful person. She knows only too well what illness and suffering are, and is always thoughtful and kind to others who are ill. My own son received magazines galore from her during his recovery from surgery, and just the other day she appeared at the store with another much appreciated sack full. I join most sincerely with Mr. Clark in his tribute to her . . . and wish her not only a happy birthday but a "happy every day." She deserves it.

Viewing Screens

"ANOTHER EVENING WITH FRED ASTAIRE" is to be repeated on NBC, the tentative date being April 3. . . . There may be a revival of the old Charlie Ruggles series, "The World of Mr. Sweeney."

A new adventure series, "The Islander," is expected to replace "The Alaskans" Sunday nights on ABC next fall. . . . ABC's tentative plans will move the "Wednesday Night Fights" over to Saturday night next fall, with the new "Naked City" series going into the Wednesday night at 10:30 spot.

Robert Loggia stars on the Ellego Back series on "Walt Disney Presents" at 7:30 tonight on ch. 6 and 7, and, as Beca, sets out to prove that a cattle-baron is stealing a rancher's cattle. . . . Hugh Marlowe and Patricia Barry co-star on the "Rawhide" series at 7:30 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10 as a husband-and-wife team of conspirators transporting stolen nitroglycerine.

Victor Borge clown with Jane Powell and other guests on the "Star Parade" variety show at 8:30 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4. . . . Hugh O'Brien and Felicia Farr co-star in the story of a calculating private investigator who sets out to prove, rather than disprove, the guilt of a client indicted for bribery, on "Desilu Playhouse" at 9 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10.

In the first of a two-part drama titled "Return to San Dece," private investigator Stuart Bailey (Efrem Zimbalist Jr.) is commissioned to escort Roxanna Ferrales (Andra Martin), a Latin of noble blood, back to her embattled little republic at the end of her educational sojourn in the United States on "77 Sunset Strip" at 9 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7.

Meg's Fiance Needs No Title

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret's fiance may have royal blood in his commoner's veins. But Britain's great authority on aristocracy is against giving him a title.

"I think it would be a pity if Mr. Armstrong-Jones were given a title," Cyril Francis James Hankinson, editor of Debrett, said yesterday.

Debrett is a gold-embossed book of royalty and the upper classes. It weighs 7 pounds, 9 ounces and costs $35.28.

"A title is only given for public services, or for constitutional reasons," the scholarly editor said in an interview.

"Mr. Armstrong-Jones has not qualified for this in either respect. It would look as though he were marrying into a title. Only a woman can marry into a title."

Anthony Armstrong-Jones, a professional photographer, will marry Princess Margaret May 6.

Many people have suggested he be made a duke.

Only Tuesday, the assistant editor of Debrett discovered that Anthony may be a commoner, but he's far from being common.

After weeks of research, Patrick Montague-Smith, hurried from the dusty archives of the British Museum with the exciting news that Armstrong-Jones is a descendant of King Edward I.

Wheat Loans Mature March 31

FARMERS with Commodity Credit Corporation loans on 1959-crop wheat were reminded yesterday by Chairman David H. Griffith of the Monroe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee that the loans mature on March 31. The maturity date applies to loans on both warehouse- and farm-stored wheat of the 1959 season.

For farmers with 1959-crop wheat purchase agreements, March 31 is also the deadline for notifying the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office of an intention to deliver wheat under the agreement.

The title to wheat under loan that is stored in warehouses will be taken over by the Commodity Credit Corporation by the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office on the maturity date. For CCC loan wheat stored on farms, the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office will notify farmers after March 31 as to when and where their wheat is to be delivered.

Non Recourse Basis

CCC price-support loans are made to farmers on a non-recourse basis, which means that the loan is considered satisfied when a wheat producer delivers the same amount and grade of wheat that he placed under loan.

Purchase agreements provide price protection for the producer at the price-support level without interest charges. Purchase agreements were available during the same period as loans. The agreements indicate the amount of wheat that a producer can sell to CCC.

Good Bench Would Make Giants Go

By Walter L. Johns
Central Press Sports Editor
PHOENIX, Ariz. — A set ball club, a physically sound manager and a little help from the bench should make the San Francisco Giants a top contender in the National league chase again this year and the optimism runs fairly high in this Valley of the Sun.

With the addition of Don Blasingame from the Cards and Bill O'Dell, fine young pitcher from the Orioles, the Giants are lineup set and Manager Bill Rigney's apparent only concern is reserve strength, both in the infield and in the pinch-hitting department.

Rigney, ex-Giant shortstop who had to mumble his words at this time last year as his jaw was wired following a serious auto accident, leads the pep parade this season as he says, "I've got something to say this year — and best of all I can say it!"

Front Line Set

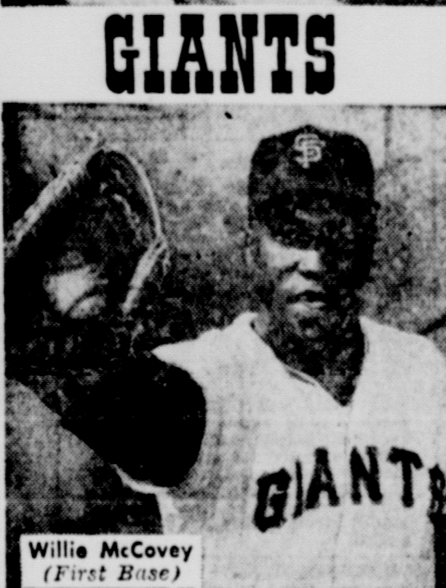

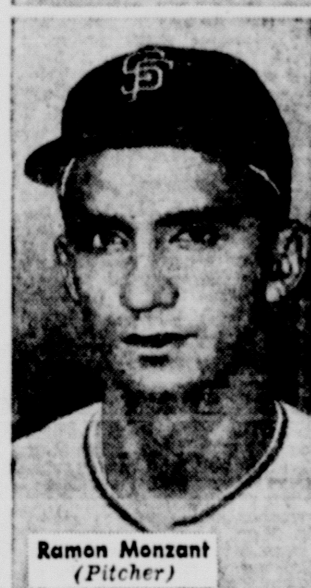

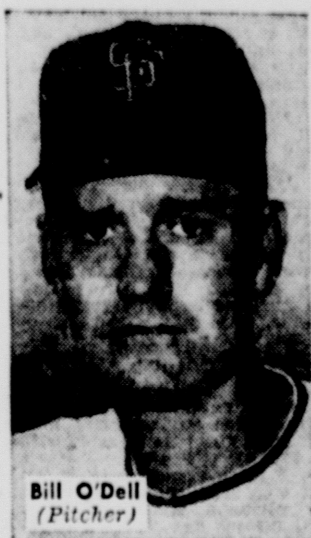

"Our front line is set," says Bill. "We're a little thin on the bench. I'd say our pitching is deeper with O'Dell and he will give me a chance to rest some of my starters. Our catching is adequate but naturally we'd like to have a Yogi Berra, an Ed Bailey or a Del Crandall but it isn't that easy."

"Everybody here is working hard and serious about it. Everybody feels good about this club and I'd say that I thought last year's race was as good as you'll get and it'll be tough again this year and this league will be tough for years to come."

Five Starters

Rigney can count on Johnny Antonelli, Sam Jones, Jack Sanford, O'Dell and Mike McCormick for his five starters, with Stu Miller, Ramon Montant and Al Worthington top aides.

The Giants will carry 10 pitchers and any additional help Rigney can get will come from a group of newcomers including Bud Byerly, who's been around for years; Charley Davis, 15-6 with Springfield; Georges Maranda, 18-6 with Louisville and Verle Tiefenthaler, 10-13 with Corpus Christi.

Montant was inactive last year but he won eight games for the Giants the year before.

Hobie Landrith and Bob Schmidt are the catchers with Al Steigltz, who was injured last year and played little in the minors, a possibility.

McCovey Adds Weight

Willie McCovey, the sensational rookie of 1959, who now is 15 pounds heavier, will be ticketed for first base only with Orlando Cepeda staying in the outer garden. Once again Andre Rodgers, who has shown great potential in the past and spent part of last year with Phoenix, is back and is rapidly catching Rigney's eye at first and could be used at third.

Blasingame will be at second. Eddie Bressoud at short and Jim Davenport at third. A fill-in here could be Joe Amalfitano, a $40,000 bonus beauty back in 1954 who was re-acquired by the Giants via the $25,000 draft price from Toronto late last season.

The outfield is centered by the $80,000 prize, Willie Mays, with Cepeda and Felipe Alou right along side. Alou belted two homers over the left field fence in a game here during our visit and he has been hitting well all spring.

A future possibility is Alou's brother, Mateo, who is labeled a fine prospect. Rigney said Mateo can throw better than Felipe. Willie Kirkland will do part-time work.

Two other newcomers, rated future hopes, are Bob Perry, up from Sacramento, and John Weekly, from Corpus Christi. Weekly fractured a leg during a training game and he will be out for months but the Giants will give him a real look when he returns.

Capstone Comment

Hank Sauer, ex-Giant, is now a scout for this club and he is making the rounds in Florida, looking for help which is needed for the bench. If he gets it, the Giants could be the team to beat.

On San Francisco Giants

Finish last year — Third. Pitching — Very good. Infield — Improved. Outfield — Lots of power and Willie Mays. Catching — Could be better. Overall — Need bench strength to be top contender.

State Rejects Petition Of Sandereck

BANGOR — The Pennsylvania Bureau of Elections and Commissions yesterday rejected a second petition by Russell Sandereck of East Bangor as a candidate for state representative.

The action was taken although the petition appears to have more than enough qualified signatures. A check will be made of the number of names on the petition and it will be accepted if a mistake was made, the bureau said.

Sandereck earlier filed a petition as a Democratic candidate for representative from Northampton County's Second District, opposing the three Democratic incumbent representatives. He was considered a candidate of the Upper Mount Bethel Taxpayers Association. His petition, signed by 106 persons, was rejected in Harrisburg because some addresses failed to list the township in which the signers lived, as the state claimed, is required by law. A minimum of 100 qualified signatures was needed on the petition.

New One Circulated

Last week, according to Paul F. Oxford, of Bangor RD 1, a number of the taxpayers group, new petitions were circulated to place Sandereck's name on the ballot as an independent candidate. The minimum number of signers for such a petition was 509, according to the section of law covering independent candidates. The petition was signed by 638 persons. It listed members of a committee "authorized to fill any vacancy caused by death or resignation of any candidate" on the independent ticket as Oxford, Bert Transue and Robert C. Potter, all members of the taxpayers association. Many but not all of the petition signers are association members, Oxford said.

According to the Northampton County Elections Bureau, Monday was the final day to file petitions for independent candidates. Names of such candidates appear on the November ballots only. Nominating petitions for independent candidates must be signed by two percent of the highest vote cast for any candidate in the previous election in the district in which the candidate is running.

Returned Wednesday
The petition finally was rejected and returned yesterday, Oxford said. The letter accompanying it, signed by Eberman Tuesday, gave entirely different reasons for the rejection, however.

The reason cited in the letter is "failure to meet the requirements of law in regard to designating townships, or street addresses where they exist, in such a number of instances as to leave less than the minimum number of qualified signatures required."

A Letter
The letter contends that 45 signatures had to be thrown out for the reasons cited, and 14 signatures of Roseto signers are questionable because they did not list street addresses. The letter declared that this left only 411 signatures "whereas 509 were required." However, the petitions carry 638 signatures, leaving at least 589 valid.
